

FOOD STUDIES SYMPOSIUM

APRIL 12-13, 2012

EV 6.720, SGW

Food and foodways continue to emerge as vital topics of scholarly research. This gathering offers Concordia students, faculty, and community members a chance to share thinking and methods, and discuss current issues related to food through a cross-disciplinary lens. All are welcome and participation is free. Email dszanto@alcor.concordia.ca to register.

Thursday, April 12

14:00 Opening Remarks

Rhona Richman Kenneally, Design and Computation Arts, Concordia University

14:30 Food Studies in Canada

Alison Blay-Palmer, Geography and Environmental Studies, Wilfrid Laurier University; President, Canadian Association for Food Studies

16:00 Facilitating Participatory Media

Elizabeth Miller, Communication Studies, Concordia University

Friday, April 13

9:00 Session I - Graduate Student Presentations

Shaun Weadick, Jean-Sebastien Roussy, Marian Pinsky

10:45 Session II - Graduate Student Presentations

Natalie Doonan, Josh Davidson, Virginie Lavallée-Picard

12:00 Lunch: The 'Main' Dish: Boulevard St-Laurent as Meal

David Szanto, SIP PhD student, Concordia

13:30 Round-Table Discussion

Concordia faculty and Alison Blay-Palmer

15:00 End of program

This symposium is made possible by support from Concordia University's Centre for Interdisciplinary Studies in Society and Culture (cissc.concordia.ca)